FIGHTING LINE OF 200 MILES

Mexican Revolution Is Sweeping Towards the Capital

"THE UNITED MEXICAN STATES"

New Government Proclaimed by Madero, Who Claims Allegiance From Seven States—Americans Said to Be in Great Peril—Disturbances in Various Parts of Republic—Thousand Persons Reported Killed

Mexico City, Nov. 23.—The government has learned that Madero, the revolutionary leader, has proclaimed a provisional government of the United Mexican States and that he claims allegiance from seven states.

The cabinet of President Diaz was in session all day and all night, considering steps to be taken to crush the revolution. President Diaz held long conferences with War Minister Cosío in private.

A battle between revolutionary forces, and government troops extends from Matamoros to Laredo, a distance of 200 miles.

At Camargo the rebels made an unsuccessful assault upon the garrison and retired with 100 dead and wounded. At Mier revolutionists and rurales clashed, the rurales going over to the rebels after a brief skirmish.

A revolutionary army is proceeding against Monterrey and an attack there is imminent. Most of the Americans have fled.

By Way of Texas

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 23.—The Mexican revolution is sweeping like wild fire toward the capital, according to dispatches received here.

The rebels are operating in force to within 100 miles of Mexico City, and are fighting and spreading their propaganda throughout a vast territory, extending fanwise from here clear up to the Rio Grande. Seven different states are more or less in revolution.

Americans are in great peril in Mexico. When the rebels moved upon Rio Blanco, Nogales and Santa Rosa, shooting down resisting officers, looting stores and applying the torch, reports came of anti-American threats. Cards bearing such inscriptions as "Kill the Yankees," are being posted.

The rebels are in control of the towns of San Antonio, San Andres, Torreon Ranch, Minaca, Encimillas, Guerrero and all the surrounding territory in the state of Chihuahua. Martial law has been proclaimed in Chihuahua, according to late reports.

More than 1000 men and women have been killed and wounded in fighting about the towns of Parral, Torreon, Gomez Palacio, Durango and Pueblo, according to the same report. This is a conservative estimate; other reports of less definite character make the losses five times as high.

Minister of War Cosío sent large detachments to prevent the Yaqui Indians from joining the rebels. The Yaquis are the most savage tribe of Indians extant and they have always been a thorn in the side of Mexican peace. The territory in which they live is wild and rugged and constantly patrolled by rurales.

Treason in the Mexican army will be crushed by the Mexican government with an iron hand. News reached here that nineteen officers and privates of one of the regular regiments at Orizaba were arrested and immediately executed in the military prison.

The executions followed wholesale desertions from the ranks of the federal troops to the insurgents. A late report says that fighting is still going on at Torreon, where the revolutionists are being aided by 300 federal troops who have deserted.

United States troops are patrolling the border to preserve the neutrality laws. Troop K, Third United States cavalry, arrived from Fort Sam Houston. The soldiers are equipped with ammunition and rations for a long stay. Troop L, of the Third cavalry, is rushing to Eagle Pass from San Antonio. While it is believed that these two troops will be able to patrol the border other soldiers are held in readiness for call.

GUNBOATS MAKE A RECORD

Complete 26,200-Mile Journey Around the Globe in Good Trim

Portsmouth, N. H., Nov. 23.—The United States gunboats Wheeling and Petrel have just arrived in the Portsmouth navy yard after completing a 26,200-mile journey from San Francisco around the globe by way of the Suez canal.

The two gunboats are the smallest craft of any navy ever to make so long a trip, and the manner in which both weathered the heavy seas on the passage has caused favorable comment in naval circles.

Kansas Population Is 1,690,949
Washington, Nov. 22.—The census bureau made public the population returns from Kansas, showing it now has 1,690,949, the last census showing 1,470,495.

USED TACKS FOR ARMOR

Providence Madman Puts Up Hard Battle With Policeman

Providence, Nov. 23.—Almost like a coat of barbed mail was the clothing worn by Henry B. Griswold, a madman, when he went out to slay Policeman Foye in the fashionable Elmwood district.

Although Foye escaped the thrust of a knife the madman had, he fell a victim to the armament of Griswold, which lacerated his face and hands and in fact punctured his whole body. The policeman's clothing was also torn to tatters before the battle was checked. But Griswold fought all the way to the police station, and several men were required to subdue him.

His clothing, it was found, had been filled with long steel tacks with the sharp ends pointing outward. There were 117 of them in all, and Griswold had spent the whole of Sunday inserting them in his clothing. The tacks were even fixed into the collar of the coat and his white linen collar as well.

GASTON IN THE FIELD

Solicits Democratic Support In Contest For Lodge's Senate Seat

Boston, Nov. 23.—William A. Gaston has announced his candidacy for the United States senate now occupied by Senator Lodge, in a letter which he has sent to Democratic members-elect of the legislature of 1911, in which he says he believes that Democrats should nominate a caucus candidate and solicit their support.

Mr. Gaston was the nominee of the Democrats in the legislature for United States senator in 1905, when Lodge was last elected. At that time the Democratic nomination for United States senator was merely a mark of respect to a distinguished member of the party. Gaston was the Democratic candidate for governor in 1902 and again in 1903. Just before that he had served on the staff of Governor Russell.

TRAWL BRINGS UP RELIC OF PORTLAND

Fisherman Gets Electroliner of the Ill-Fated Steamer

Boston, Nov. 21.—A mass of twisted electric light fixtures twined about a brass electroliner, a portion of the saloon fixtures of the steamer Portland, which was lost with all hands in a November storm twelve years ago, was dragged up out of the sea by the fishing trawls of the schooner Ida Silva off the Middle Bank and has reached Boston.

All doubt as to the authenticity of this remarkable souvenir of the wreck, in which the lives of the 300 persons were lost on the night of Nov. 27, 1898, is removed by the discovery of the name of the manufacturers of the fixtures inside the bowl of the chandelier.

By this discovery it is thought the exact location of the steamer's hull may be found. Several pilots have viewed the souvenir of the worst accident of the sea which ever took place on the New England coast, and an effort will be made to obtain other portions of the Portland from the depths of the Middle Banks.

Chicken Shower For New Pastor
Winsted, Conn., Nov. 20.—Seventy members of the Torrington Congregational church tendered the new pastor, Rev. W. E. Paige, a surprise party, when they presented to the pastor thirty-one chickens, which were intended, according to the speech of presentation, to establish Paige in the poultry business.

Many Uses of Sand.

The sands of the sea are singularly useful. They are of primary importance in glassmaking. They have an important place in warfare, as a bank of sand twenty inches thick is proof against modern rifle shots. The electrical properties of sand show that it has positive electricity, although a rod of silica, the chief constituent of sand, is negative.

The singular drying effect which occurs when a stretch of wet sand is pressed by the foot is due entirely to an alteration in the piling of the sand grains. Normally the grains are close together, but abnormal piling is brought about by pressure of the foot, the space between the edges of the grains being enlarged and the water drained away. If the pressure of the foot is continued the sand becomes wetter than ever, the partial vacuum quickly bringing water from the surrounding sand.

In quicksand the moving character is thought to be due to the imprisonment between the grains of gases from organic matter.—Chicago Tribune.

Caught.

A shopwalker in a large business, noted for his severity to the assistants under him, one day stepped up to a counter from which a ladylike person had just left unserved.

"You let that lady leave without making any purchase?" he asked angrily of the meek looking young man responsible for the handkerchief department sales.

"Yes, sir, I"—
"And she was at your counter fully ten minutes?"

"Doubtless; but, then, you see?"—
"Exactly. I saw that. In spite of all the questions she put to you, you rarely answered her and never attempted to get what she wanted."

"Well, but—"—
"You need not make any excuse. I shall report you for carelessness."

"Well, I hadn't what she wanted?"—
"What was that?"

"Five shillings. She was canvassing for subscriptions to an encyclopedia."—London Globe.

An Aquatic Tragedy.

When visitors came, Bobby was often turned out of his room and into the garret for a night or two. He did not object to this, but he felt that it endangered certain cherished possessions. When his uncle, the clergyman, arrived unexpectedly one night Bobby was transferred to his garret quarters in haste and with small ceremony, and neglected to take any precautions to guard his treasures.

"I have to thank the thoughtful person who placed a glass of water on the table near the bed last night," said the clergyman the next morning. "I awoke in the night and found it refreshing—most refreshing."

"Oh!" said Bobby, in a tone of sorrow and reproach. "You've drunk up my nice new 'quarium, and all!"—
But here Bobby's revelation was suppressed by his mother.—Youth's Companion.

Who Got the Baby?

Once upon a time a crocodile stole a baby and was about to make a dinner of it. The frantic mother begged so piteously for the child that the crocodile said:

"Tell me one truth and you shall have your baby again."

The mother replied, "You will not give him back to me."

"Then," said the crocodile, "by our agreement I shall keep him, for if you have told the truth I am not going to give him back, and if it is a lie I have also won."

But the mother said, "If I told you the truth you are bound by your promise, and if it is not the truth it will not be a lie until you have given me my child."

Who got the baby?

No Sense of Proportion.

The young man who had spent his efforts for several years without result in studying art was talking with his practical uncle, who had patiently paid the bills.

"Of course," said the young artist, "I know I haven't made much of a go of it, but I don't think you ought to advise me to try something else. You know it's best to put all your eggs in one basket and watch that basket."

"Um! That may be, Charlie; but did you ever think how foolish it is to put so many baskets around one banana egg?"

Applied History.

First Professor—My dear colleague, I'm a little puzzled. When did the first Peloponnesian war begin? Second Professor—Quite right, quite right. That is the number of my doctor's telephone. I was to call him up and tell him my wife is sick.—Exchange.

Your Own Misfortunes.

Bear your own misfortunes with half the resignation that you hear other people's and you will be happy. It is so easy to tell other people how to be heroic and so difficult to be courageous ourselves.

A Slight Change.

Slight changes sometimes make a great difference. "Dinner for nothing," would be agreeable, for instance; not so, "Nothing for dinner."

His Wish.

Tom—I wish this ten dollar bill was a ten dollar debt. Dick—Heavens! Why? Tom—I'd never get rid of it.—Cleveland Leader.

We are sure to get the better of fortune if we do but grapple with her.—Seneca.

MISSIONARY WOODS

Before the afterglow dies on the hill,
And the mists creep upward gray and chill,
Where yon brown fields meet the woodland, see!
Appears a glorious company.

Gathered in the border of the wood,
Stately forms, of aspect grand and good,
By twos and threes as if conversing,
Scenes of bygone times rehearsing.

One, I saw point upward to the height,
Where marbles gladden in golden light,
And one to lighted windows, where Crowds of gay youth are hushed for prayer.

Mark those standing on memorial mound,
Robes straight-lined. Heads chaplet-crowned!
Doubter! you say the lines are tree-lined,
And the chaplets, soon, will fall around?

"It is written"—Spirits walked the earth,
When our race was young. Our faith holds fast—
Light gleams, mortal eyes see visions,
We know but this—"The First shall be the Last."

Advices Use of Mail Boxes

By direction of the Post Office Department, the attention of patrons of the local office is invited to the advantages of providing facilities for the receipt of their mail by erecting conveniently accessible boxes or cutting suitable slots in their doors. Such action would enable the postmaster to give a prompter and better delivery service with the means at his disposal, since the carriers can cover much more territory in less time if not compelled to wait for an answer to their ring. Private receptacles for mail are also a great convenience to the household, obviating the necessity of inconvenient moments and permitting the safe delivery of mail in the absence of members of the household. They also prevent the occasional necessity of a carrier's proceeding on his route without delivering mail because of failure to answer his ring within a reasonable time, and enable him to make deliveries to patrons living on or near the end of the route at an earlier hour. It has been shown by actual experience that the benefits derived by patrons of city delivery from the use of such receptacles far outweigh the small expense involved.

USE OF MAILS

Charged Against Corporation
Dealing in Stocks

GOVERNMENT CONDUCTS RAID

Books and Papers of Burr Bros.
Seized by Federal Officers, Who Arrest Three Heads of Firm—No Dividends Received by Buyers of Between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000
of Stock in Various Companies

New York, Nov. 22.—Federal officials raided the offices occupied by Burr Bros., a corporation dealing in stocks and other securities. The raid was made on warrants charging use of the mails to defraud investors. Postoffice officials say that the corporation has sold to investors at par value
between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000
of stock in various companies, most of which have gone out of existence or have become bankrupt.

The warrants were issued by United States Commissioner Shield and the officers of the corporation were arrested and its books and papers seized.
The raid was planned by Postoffice
Inspector Dickson, in charge of this district, and Postmaster
General Hitchcock and Chief Postoffice Inspector Sharpe, who came from Washington to see that it was carried out successfully.

The officers arrested were Sheldon
C. Burr, president; Frank H. Tobey, vice president, and Eugene H. Burr, secretary and treasurer. Arrests are expected to be made in Cleveland, Chicago, Los Angeles and San Francisco, where the corporation has extensive offices.

Postoffice officials have been working on the case for months. Hundreds of complaints have been made against the corporation by investors who charge that they have been swindled through false representations
made to them concerning the profits that were being realized by those who put their money into oil, timber, copper, lead, zinc and gold.

Before criminal action could be taken postoffice inspectors had to secure legal evidence as to the standing and affairs of the various companies which the Burr Bros. were promoting and which they alleged to the investors were operating to their fullest capacity and were paying dividends.
The inquiry necessitated visits by government experts to mines and other properties in distant parts of the country.

After the raid Hitchcock gave out an official memorandum concerning the Burr Bros., which was organized several years ago and in 1907 was incorporated with a capital of $100,000,
and later increased to $300,000. The memorandum gives a long list of companies in which the firm has been interested and concludes:

"Sheldon C. Burr, Eugene H. Burr and F. Harry Tobey are the only members of the firm in New York at the present time.

"In every instance they have promised large dividends on the stock sold in addition to an increase in the value of the stock, but not in a single case have any of the companies paid any dividends, and practically all of them have been complete failures.

"The department has received several hundred complaints from people who have bought this stock and lost their money."

The three officials of the company,
President Burr, Vice President Tobey
and Secretary Burr, were arraigned before Commissioner Shields and held in $20,000 bail each. The federal prosecutor said that the alleged frauds are very extensive. The date for the examination of the three prisoners will be determined later. Other officials alleged to be connected with the Burr Bros. in the west and on the Pacific coast are C. H. Tobey and E.
W. Preston.

The raid on Burr Bros. is said to be only the first step on the part of the government to suppress fake brokerage houses, which Hitchcock said
had in five years fleeced the public out of $10,000,000.

Charles L. Vaughn, a director of the Continental Wireless Telegraph and Telephone company, incorporated in Arizona, was taken in a second raid and held in $10,000 bail. Inspectors say his company has sold stock to the amount of at least $1,000,000 which has brought no return to the investors. Vaughn is treasurer of the Columbia Finance company, which acts as fiscal agent for the Continental Wireless Telegraph and Telephone company, and had charge of the Continental's offices in this city.

NOTHING TO NOTHING
IN FOOTBALL GAME

Crimson Falls to Lower the Blue at New Haven

New Haven, Nov. 21.—Twenty-two strong youths of Yale and Harvard battled here for one hour and forty minutes for the year's football championship, while 33,000 people looked on, sometimes breathless, sometimes with a prodigious expenditure of breath
in fierce hurrahs. And in the end it was nothing to nothing.

But the score does not tell the story,
a story of what was and what might have been. When the Crimson clad giants loomed upon the field it would have been a venturesome prophet that would not have predicted for them a substantial victory.

Because Harvard did not win there will doubtless be many explanations.
But the fact remains that time and again the Crimson line fell upon the Blue, broke it, and swept on to seeming victory, only to be balked by its own impetuosity.

Probably the most of the experts
will agree that Harvard lost its own game. Yale played on the defensive.
It was a masterly defense, almost without a flaw. When the line was broken, there was no disorganization.
It closed again and the enemy found a new front countering its charge. A front alert, powerful to repulse, fierce
to return the onset.

SEIZURE OF BAD EGGS

More Than Ten Tons Taken From Refrigerator Company's Plant

New York, Nov. 21.—United States
marshals seized 20,303 pounds of liquid eggs known as "rots and spots"
in the King County Refrigerator company's plant in Brooklyn, upon a report from Washington that the eggs
were not fit for human consumption.

The eggs were shipped here six weeks ago from Atchison, Kan., and some were sold to bakers.

Samples showed, the inspectors
say, 2,300,000 malignant bacteria to each gram of eggs.

BOMB IN NAVY YARD

Philadelphia, Nov. 20.—Claude
Grahame-White proved the usefulness of an aeroplane in war times when he deliberately put a "stage bomb" on the roof of the administration building at the League island navy yard.

When White accomplished his feat,
his aeroplane was going at the rate of thirty-five miles an hour, and before the sailors or marines at the navy yard were aware of what the aviator
had done, he was back at his starting point.

Tolstoi, Self-Exiled, Dies After
One Week of Sickness

HIS FAMILY AT THE BEDSIDE

Wife Had Been Denied Admittance to Sick Room While Patient Was Conscious—Philosopher and Essayist
Considered One of Greatest Writers
Russia Ever Produced—Born an Aristocrat, but Became Peasant

Astapova, Russia, Nov. 21.—Count
Leo Tolstoi, self-exiled from home,
died here in the home of the switchman at this dreary junction. He had been ill a week, refusing to see
friends or relatives, save his daughter Alexandra.

Dr. Makovetsky and the other attending physicians and Countess Tolstoi and other members of the family were at his side when the end came.
It was recognized long before that his case was hopeless and after the countess had been summoned and the other members of the family had gathered in an adjoining room, the physicians issued a bulletin announcing that the activity of the heart had almost ceased and that Tolstoi's condition was extremely dangerous. Several of the physicians were greatly overcome.

Countess Tolstoi was admitted to the sick room for the first time Saturday night, but her husband failed to recognize her. She had hastened to his side when she learned that his illness was serious, but the physicians had deemed it advisable that she be kept out of sight, fearing that her presence might cause the patient emotion. His daughter Alexandra has been in constant attendance.

Tolstoi was looked upon as one of the greatest writers Russia has ever produced. His countrymen have always believed in his sincerity, and though he has always advocated peace, he was regarded as one of the greatest of forces behind the revolutionary movement in Russia. He had written and touched upon subjects
which would have meant exile to Siberia had any other Russian expressed such views as he advanced.

Although born an aristocrat, Tolstoi consistently preached the doctrine that the humble peasant had rights which even the czar was bound to respect. He has preached poverty, and gone about in peasant's garb. He wore this costume on the day that he set out with Dr. Makovetsky, leaving his family and friends with but $15 in his pocket and started forth to find seclusion. He has worn wooden shoes, tilted the soil with rude implements and all this in the face of family opposition.

Devoutness was ever one of the orders of his life. He believed that Christian doctrine should be applied to the daily life of each person. The revolutionary ideas of Tolstoi brought him into conflict with the hierarchy of the Greek church many times and he has ever been disdainful of mandates enunciated from the pulpit.

Tolstoi was born in Yastia Pollana
eighty-two years ago and his family is possessed of a magnificent estate
which the venerable sage made over to them some time ago. As a boy his education was looked after by tutors,
but later on he was sent to the University of Kazan, where he studied medicine, astronomy, theology,
chemistry and social questions.

Man to him appeared to be the greatest study of all studies and he has shown profound knowledge of human nature in all his books. He was opposed to war, a matter of opinion which perplexed many, for at one time he had served in the army and had fought at Sebastopol. In that defense of the citadel he proved himself efficient and brave officer, but after peace was declared voiced the opinion that the pen was far mightier
than the sword and prepared to use this weapon in behalf of the rights of men.

He wrote novel after novel, which,
under the guise of interesting fiction,
has some moral lesson as its great object. His work on Napoleon, depicting the invasion of 1812, was extremely realistic.

In his autobiography he says:
"I would divide my life into four periods—the innocent, joyful, poetic period up to fourteen; then those dreadful twenty years, the period of coarse dissoluteness of service, of ambition and vanity, and above all of sensuousness; next the eighteen years during which I have lived regular,
honest family life, yet a period all the interest of which is limited to egotistical family cares, to concern for the increase of wealth, the attainment of literary success and the enjoyment of every kind of pleasure,
and the fourth period, in which I now live and hope to die, from whose standpoint I see all the significance of my past life."

FOOD DRUGGED BY NEGROES

Mystery Regarding Sickness of Midshipmen is Solved

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 23.—The naval academy officials have before them evidence that the stomach trouble from which a majority of the midshipmen have been suffering during the last week or ten days is due to a deliberate drugging of the food by negro employees of the mess, who wished to cast a discredit upon the chief cook, a white man.

The suspected men have been suspended. Many of the midshipmen have been ill in varying degrees since the sickness broke out, and were inclined to think that the authorities
had taken that method of doing them
as a preventative of typhoid.

After the medical officers began to look into the matter, they had no difficulty in discovering that some drug had been put in some article of the midshipmen's diet. It is thought that it was put in the coffee and tea.

TAKES A FLING AT COCKRAN

Grover Calls Him the Greatest Hoodoo
That Ever Was

New York, Nov. 23.—Expressing keen delight with the recent Democratic successes in various parts of the country, but refused to comment on the causes or the possible effects, Richard Croker, the one time Tammany chieftain, is in this city, where he expects to stay until after Thanksgiving day, when he will start for Palm Beach, where he intends to spend the winter.

"Cockran, I understand, supported Roosevelt in the campaign in New York state," said Croker. "Cockran is enough to queer any party. I think he is the greatest hoodoo that ever was. So the Democratic party has come back. Such things happen once in a while."

SUFFRAGETTES MOB
PREMIER ASQUITH

Rescued by Police After Being Struck In the Face

London, Nov. 23.—Premier Asquith was mobbed and struck in the face by suffragettes in Downing street
after leaving the parliament building yesterday afternoon. He was rescued by policemen and placed in a taxicab.

One of the women rammed her fist through the glass before the cab could get under way. When it started the suffragettes followed it, calling "coward" and other harsh epithets.

The attack was part of a demonstration which the suffragettes had made
following the announcement in parliament by Asquith that if the present government were in power following the general elections he would introduce a bill enfranchising women. He said that the bill would be so broad as to admit of many amendments.

NO PRECEDENT FOR ACTION

Receiver's Move Against Cambridge
Bank Officials Fails in Court

Boston, Nov. 22.—Judge Colt of the United States circuit court denied a motion made by John L. Bates, receiver of the National City Bank of Cambridge, for a special precept of attachment for $300,000 against Edwin Dresser, Sumner Dresser and George W. Gale, directors of the bank.

The receiver sues to recover for losses sustained by the embezzlement
of funds by George W. Coleman, alleging negligence on their part.

The motion was denied for the reason that there was no precedent for such action and the rules of the court do not provide for it.

MRS. AVERILL SENTENCED

Gets Ten to Twelve Years in Prison
For Killing Husband

St. Albans, Vt., Nov. 23.—Mrs.
Josephine Averill, who was tried here for the murder of her husband, was sentenced to serve not less than ten years nor more than twelve in the state prison.

When the sentence was pronounced,
the woman broke down and cried.
She was sobbing when she was taken from the courtroom. Although her case is to be fought in the higher courts, the action does not act as a stay of sentence. Averill was shot on the night of Oct. 20 last.

As we observe the near approach of school opening and find ourselves more than ever pinched for room to make a suitable display of students' furniture at that time, we feel compelled to sacrifice about 25 up-to-date Child's Carriages and Go-carts, in order to obtain the space they occupy. We therefore have decided to offer them at 20 per cent off the regular prices which are now very low.

This is no bluff sale, as you may see for yourself upon an inspection of the price tags showing the prices regularly asked.

THE TOWN BY A COUNTRYMAN AT HOME

Good Game with One Lack

The Punchard boys gave an excellent exhibition of football on the old campus Thanksgiving morning. A great many people enjoyed it, and undoubtedly many more would have gone had they known what a clever game was to be played. There was one thing about the game that the real, loyal Andoverian could not really enjoy, and that was the fact that it was necessary to have the game played on private property because the Playstead was in such condition as to be unfit for such a contest as was being carried on.

The writer devoted about five years to the work of procuring for the Andover boys a satisfactory playground. Other interests necessitated a let-up, and the enthusiasm of some who had been interested waned, so that for the last two years there has been practically nothing done toward further improvements and developments of the land which the town owns and which the boys should be enjoying. No town in the Commonwealth has a location better fitted for a playground than is possessed by Andover. Its relation to the general public and its close association with the schools, make it ideally situated. The suggestion that it is low is at once proven to be absurd when one considers what was done with the meadow now known as Brothers Field. Of course it will take money. Few good things in this world don't take money. Of course "criticism" is one of those things, and "criticism" is another, but advice and criticism are valuable even though they cost nothing, if they succeed in arousing the fellow with money to get busy. The Andover Playstead hasn't yet been named. We can think of a half-dozen most fitting names to apply to this particular field, making a memorial to somebody's generosity, and a gift for the many future generations of Andover boys that would mean more for good citizenship in the years to come than any possible investment of the same amount of money along any other line.

It should not be necessary for holiday games, in which the public of the town is almost exclusively interested, to be played on private grounds. The generosity of the authorities at Phillips is appreciated by all, but their grounds are designed for their own uses and the town is sufficiently wealthy, if the trend can only be directed aright, to take care of its own boys upon its own territory.

Editorial Cinders

The local Thanksgiving services yesterday afternoon attracted but a small audience as usual, emphasizing what the Townsman has referred to in several years past, the need of some different sort of public gathering to make the best possible use of this peculiar holiday. It may be all right to meet in a place of public worship and center our thoughts upon the text of the Pharisee's prayer, but for an active, rushing, pushing people like the present generation, intent upon the vital problems of present day life, there would seem to be an opening up of visions vastly more important than those that would naturally center around satisfaction and exaltation. It is to be hoped that the churches will not allow this opportunity to pass for allying themselves with a forward, progressive movement for civic betterment, through a blind adherence to old-fashioned customs; customs that were good and have worked great good in years past, but that must undoubtedly give way to a new scheme of reaching the people, if the day and its best observances are to mean what they ought to to the present generation.

Two communications of interest are sent to the Townsman this week. They are not long, but are strictly to the point. They are also extremely welcome because they show an interest in things that concern the public, of which we might well have more shown and more expressed. Mr. Somers undoubtedly voices the feelings of a great many people in his protest against putting a bandstand in Elm Square, while our other correspondent's reference to the abuses of the party telephone line will awaken a responsive chord among many users of that great, necessary nuisance. The Townsman would welcome more of just such short, pithy communications on live topics.

The Firemen's Ball was just the same social event as ever. For forty years their ball has come the night before Thanksgiving, and not once in this time have they failed to royally entertain their friends and to make of their entertainment a function creditable to themselves and the town. They used to have a saying on all of their printed matter, "Where duty calls, there you will find us." It never fitted the Andover boys better than it does today, and we sometimes wonder if the town fully appreciates what excellent service is rendered by this organization scattered all over the town, yet never failing to render efficient and prompt aid when it is called upon.

The progress on the new Barnard Block gives promise of adding to the town one more very substantial and attractive business block. The Townsman will soon publish a photograph of the old block before it was razed and made into a business block, in connection with a story about the new structure.

THE STATE BY A COUNTRYMAN ABROAD

A Great Man's Soliloquy

Respectfully submitted as a prologue to the Thanksgiving proclamation of a "Governor-Elect."

"Look here!" says Foss,
"I'm boss!"
"I'd have you know
That this is so,
And so is that,
And 'tis because I say so;
And I? I'm Foss
The boss."

"What? Fitz boss!
My boss?
Well you just wait
And see his gait,
When I, yes I,
Give him the bye;
I, Eugene Foss
The boss!"

"And Cabot Lodge!
He'll dodge,
When I begin
To rub it in,
And show his size
And tell how wise
Am I, 'Gene Foss
The boss."

"His cake is dough,
For I say so.
What! 'Senate vote'?
And 'House denote
Its wish?' Well I guess nit
As long's I'm 'it'
I, Foss, 'Gene Foss,
The boss."

"I've fooled 'em lots
In many spots
As just 'plain Foss'
'Old Reciprocity'
But now I'm Gov.,
Below, above,
There's no old boss
Like me, 'Gene Foss
The boss."

Oh, Foss, the boss!
Beware the loss
From your high boss!
When folks, plain folks
Perceive your jokes,
They'll not "not pros"
Their case 'gainst Foss
The boss."

Instead, methinks
They'll fill the chinks
Of one wide
Dem-o-cra-tic shelf,
With what remains,
(Less scars and stains),
Of "Ego," "Me,"
And "me," "myself"
—Eugene N. Foss—the boss."

Expensive Agitation for Working-men

Among the widespread comment upon the article in this column last week touching upon the motive behind the tariff agitation within the Home Market Club, there has been one suggestion that the criticism of Speaker Walker is due to an unfriendly feeling between him and the writer.

There is absolutely no foundation for such a suggestion. On the contrary, there is the most friendly feeling between the writer and the present Speaker of the House, and certainly the writer has very high regard for that gentleman. That regard, however, does not prevent honest criticism of a public man, and that is all that was designed in last week's issue. We believe that Mr. Walker is playing politics and we believe that it is such serious "playing" as to demand the attention of every person interested in the welfare of such communities as that in which we live.

One needs no more impressive object lesson of the actual conditions that now exist in the textile world, than is afforded by a view of business in Lawrence and its surrounding territory at the present time. Not only at the present time, but for more than a year, there is hardly an industry using wool or cotton that has not suffered more or less short time. For more than a year the great mills have failed to give to their employees other than a partially-filled pay envelope at each week's pay day. For more than a year there has been a constant weekly promise, suggested or actually made, that improvement was about to come, but the facts in connection with all this are, that things do not look better, and that improvement has not come, and probably today industrial conditions are as bad if not worse than they have been at any time during this period referred to.

The partisan press will twist and turn every suggestion that has been made, implying that this condition is a manufactured condition and designed solely to make trouble for the operatives for political effect. But the true conditions, known to the people who are informed, will show that it is not alone the operatives who are feeling this pinch at the present time.

The measure of a man's income is not the highest weekly wage that it is possible for him to earn. On the contrary it is the sum of fifty-two weekly wages coming steadily week after week, and representing full time employment at fair rates. That is what the operatives of New England are looking for at the present time. Many of them are being misled into believing that for political effect they are not securing this sort of an income. They have listened to the theorists, demagogues, and political haranguers longer than they should have. Their interests are bound up with the interests of their employers, and one cannot prosper unless the other does.

Our last week's suggestion that it would be wiser for most of us to turn for information and knowledge, as to proper tariff needs and tariff legislation, to those who know from experience, must become the doctrine for employer and employee, for consumer and producer, for capital and labor, if we are to continue New England supremacy in the manufacturing world.

PUNCHARD WINS BIG GAME

Local High School Team Victorious Over Exeter in Annual Thanksgiving Game

The Punchard school eleven defeated the Exeter high football team in their annual game, played on the P. A. campus on Thanksgiving morning. The Exeter team outweighed their opponents, but seemed unable to make any headway against the lighter, faster team. The game showed the possibilities of the forward pass in that this play was used many times and seldom failed to be a success. At the end of the first period, by a series of well-directed plays, Punchard secured a first down on Exeter's 25-yard line. The play began again in the same position and Collins made the remaining distance, thus accomplishing the first of the scoring. The try for goal was also made by Collins, but was a failure. The rest of the period developed no further scoring, neither side seeming able to make the necessary headway for a score. In the third quarter Exeter's men resorted to a punting game and worked the ball down into Punchard's territory by recovering several fumbled punts. Punchard fought desperately, but finally Nelson, the Exeter right guard, kicked a goal, standing on his own 20-yard line at the extreme right of the field. The local team came back to their own in the last period, and on a long forward pass from Boland to Collins, the latter made a pretty catch and went the remaining five yards for a touchdown. He also kicked the goal. No further scoring took place during the game, the final score being 11 to 3.

While the entire Punchard team played a most creditable game, the stars were Towne, Boland, Petty and Collins. The latter player is certainly a comer. He scored all of Andover's points, and his accurate handling of punts, sure tackling and clever dodging stamp him as a player who will be later heard from in much faster company.

Wedding

COLLINS—DRESCHER

A pretty home wedding took place on Thanksgiving afternoon at six o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Drescher on Chestnut street, when their daughter Marguerite, was united in marriage to Andrew Collins, son of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Collins of Allen street. Dr. Frederic Palmer performed the ceremony, which was witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the young couple. The bride was attired in an imported gown of lace over white satin, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. She was attended by Miss Florence Collins, sister of the groom, who was gowned in yellow messaline and carried yellow chrysanthemums. The best man was John P. Wiley. The couple entered the parlor to the strains of Lehengrin's wedding march, played by Everett Collins, a brother of the groom, and took their places under an arch of chrysanthemums and smilax, with a background of ferns and potted plants. The decorations throughout the house were very beautiful, and consisted of a profusion of white, yellow and pink chrysanthemums.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held, at which T. E. Rhodes catered. Guests were present from Malden, Manchester, N. H., and Providence, R. I., as well as Andover.

Mr. and Mrs. Collins left shortly after seven o'clock on a short wedding trip, after which they will make their home at 6 Chestnut street. The bride's travelling gown was of brown velvet.

The young couple were the recipients of many beautiful gifts, tokens of the esteem in which they are held by their friends.

R. C. O. A. Entertainment a Success

The first in the series of R. C. O. A. entertainments took place in the town hall on Friday night and was without doubt a huge success. Not for some time has an entertainment of a similar nature been given with as satisfactory results as those which attended Laurant's presentation of his mysterious tricks. Laurant has well been called the "man of many mysteries." His performance was a varied one and full of novelties as pleasing as they were unusual. While several of the tricks are in the repertoire of every magician, still they lost none of their fascination under Laurant's hands.

The evening's entertainment was divided into three parts. The first part was a kind of flower prelude, in which the magician introduced many beautiful effects. Many magical feats, such as a silken shower, ring feats, card tricks, etc., were also accomplished. The climax of the first act was the production of banners and flags which were seemingly converted into two huge American and English flags.

Part two was the "Wizard's Supper." In this act, coffee, sugar and cream were produced almost in the twinkling of an eye, and served to the audience. Several feats with Laurant's pets, a rabbit, a duck and a canary, also added to the interest. In the third act Laurant performed several mystifying tricks, one of the best being that done with cards. The piece de resistance of the act and also of the evening, was the East Indian mystery, in which the audience was completely baffled, and things happened so quickly that it was hard to believe one's eyes.

The R. C. O. A. and the committee in charge of the evening are certainly deserving of thanks for entertaining their friends and the public in such a novel and interesting manner.

Andover Captain Elected

Charles Ernest Van Brocklin of Syracuse, N. Y., the popular left end on the Phillips Andover football eleven, was unanimously elected captain for next year's team, at a meeting held Monday. The electors were the seventeen players who took part in this year's game with Exeter. Van Brocklin is 20 years of age, 5 feet 5 inches in height and weighs 160 pounds. He has done brilliant work on the Andover team in his position as left end, and the predictions are that he will make an excellent leader. In addition to his success in football, he is one of the most popular men in the school.

Harvard-Yale Game at Home

A large number of people were present at the town hall on Saturday afternoon to witness the reproduction of the Harvard-Yale game. The audience was composed mostly of Phillips students, as the affair was under the auspices of the P. A. Swimming Pool committee. A large chart marked off into 5-yard sections was erected, and the various plays, as soon as the news of them was received from New Haven, were shown by Mr. Lillard, who pushed the football back and forth across the chart. The messages, which were sent very quickly and regularly and were quite complete, were read by Mr. Keip, and the entire reproduction was so well carried out that it formed a good substitute for seeing the real game. The proceeds of the afternoon amounted to $30.00, this sum going to the Swimming Pool association.

Large Attendance at Annual Gathering held on Thanksgiving Eve in the Town Hall.—Excellent Music

The Town hall was the scene on Thanksgiving Eve of the thirty-ninth annual ball of the Andover Steam Fire Engine Company, No. 1. About one hundred couples gathered to enjoy this annual event which has been for so long identified with the night before Thanksgiving.

For the first hour and a half, those present were entertained by F. O. Harrell, a musical magician whose tricks of legerdemain furnished considerable amusement. His work with the musical glasses and other musical combinations was a feature of his performance.

Abbot Academy Recitals

The first concert in the series of recitals at Abbot Academy for the season of 1910-1911—the thirty-fourth season of these concerts—will be given next Thursday afternoon at four o'clock. The soloists for this concert will be Mr. Anton Witek, concert-master of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, and his wife, Mrs. Vita (Gerhardt) Witek, the famous Danish pianist. Mr. and Mrs. Witek have repeatedly given concerts together in all European countries with great success. They are well known throughout Europe. Prior to his appointment as concert-master of the Boston Symphony Orchestra this fall, Mr. Witek was for more than ten years the concert-master of the Berlin Philharmonic Orchestra.

The program for their concert in Andover, December 1, their first concert in America—they are to give their initial recital in Boston December 13—will be as follows:

Sonata, A major, op. 47. (Kreutzer)
Beethoven
Mr. and Mrs. Witek
Chromatic Fantasia and Fugue Bach
Mrs. Witek
Legende Wieniawski
Mr. Witek
A La Campanella Liszt
Mrs. Witek
Rondo Capriccioso Saint-Saens

Tickets for the concerts are on sale at the Andover Bookstore and at Abbot Academy. The price of tickets for the series of three concerts is two dollars.

The second concert of the series will be a piano recital, Thursday afternoon, January 12, by Mr. George Copeland, whom Philip Hale has termed "a born interpreter of the music of Debussy," and the third concert is to be a vocal recital, the date and soloist for which will be announced later.

On the remaining Sunday evenings of the year, special services will be held at the Free church. The subjects of the meetings as they have been arranged and are given below, indicate that the services will be of unusual interest. Dec. 4—Song service in Abbott Village hall. John McDonald will read a story.
Dec. 11—Praise service, "The Baritone's Parish."
Dec. 18—Address by Principal A. E. Stearns of Phillips Academy, "A Young Man's Religion."

On last Thursday afternoon Mrs. William Madison Wood of 21 Fairfield street presented her daughter, Miss Rosalind Wood, at a tea which she gave at her home. Those who poured were Miss Mollie Tufts, Miss Dorothy Davis, Miss Charlotte Winslow, Miss Alice and Miss Ruth Garland, Miss Katherine Ayer, Miss Rebecca Mills, Miss Marie Francke, Miss Marjorie Blanchard, Miss Kathleen Thomas, Miss Esther Pickering and Miss Rosamond Bigelow. Mrs. Wood wore black chiffon over gold at her reception on Thursday afternoon, and her daughter was in white liberty satin and chiffon. Thursday's reception was the first of a series which they will give each week until Lent. Mrs. Wood is a daughter of Mrs. Frederick Ayer of Commonwealth avenue, and a half-sister of Miss Katherine Ayer, who is one of this winter's debutantes.—Boston Sunday Globe.

Party Line and Bandstand

To the Editor of the Townsman:
I send this from the back of the Connecticut telephone book. It would be a good suggestion for some Andover party line users.

"Party line subscribers to a telephone have equal rights to their line. It is unfair for one user to monopolize a party line, and such nuisance shows a lack of consideration for others."

"A wise custom has established a five-minute limit for the continuous use of a party line. Experience shows that five minutes is ample time to complete an ordinary conversation. It is, therefore, plain justice to relinquish a party line after five minutes' use, calling again if necessary."

To the Editor of the Townsman:
As a new member of the Village Improvement Society I wish to protest against a bandstand in the village square. I would suggest that the society co-operate with the Boston & Northern Street Railway Co., and have built an artistic, covered waiting station around the big tree. Fashioned like the waiting stations in Brookline, with red tiled roof, it would be an ornament to the town, and would be used by our citizens every day and evening.

Respectfully submitted,
F. D. SOMERS.

A Surprise and Its Sequel

For twenty-three years the Arbroath (Scotland) Herald has been a weekly visitor to this office and in all these years its veracity has never been doubted. The following story and sequel, vouched for by a good elder of the Scottish kirk, tests the belief of the most ardent sons of St. Tammas, of whom there are many here in Andover.

"Quite a number of pheasants and wild fowls are being attracted from their quiet rural haunts to the glare and glitter of town life. This fascination does not seem to be confined to the midland counties, for an Arbroath family had a most peculiar experience the other week well worth relating.

"The goodwife of a house in Park street had a call from a neighbor about dusk the other evening. As the visitor was about to leave the house, she came hurriedly back somewhat excited, saying there was some kind of beast in the passage, and that it had darted through amongst her feet. The matron of the house was of a more courageous disposition, and at once went to ascertain the cause of the disturbance, when she found a partridge crouching behind the door. The bird, though in a plump condition, with a well-filled crop, was in an exhausted state, and the goodwife took it into the house and carefully tended it. Next morning it was so far recovered that it was flying all over the house, to the imminent danger of many of the household gods. The result was that the resuscitated visitor was made short work of, and ere long was hanging feet up in preparation for the pot—the good lady remarking that she only wished it had been a hare in place of a partridge, and they would have had even a better dinner in anticipation.

"Now comes the strangest part of this thoroughly authentic tale. On a daughter going out to an outhouse in the back garden next morning, she, like the visitor of the evening, came hurriedly back, explaining that somebody or something was inside the house, and making a 'fisseling' noise. The mother once more bravely led the attacking party, and her astonishment may be imagined when she discovered a full-grown hare to be the man in possession. A vigorous stroke of the broom handle had the effect of doubling up poor puss, and so the wish for a better-filled pot had a speedy and unlooked-for fulfillment."

Obituary

WILLIAM HOLDEN

William Holden, a resident of this town for nearly twenty years, passed away on Saturday, November 19, at a Boston hospital, after undergoing an operation. The deceased had been ill but a short time and his death was quite unexpected. After the death of his wife, which occurred last December, Mr. Holden relinquished his share in the florist business to his brother, Walker Holden, and a short time ago, with his two sisters, moved to South Main street. He had lived there only about four weeks when he was removed to the hospital.

The body was brought to Andover for burial on Tuesday, and the funeral services took place on Tuesday afternoon at the home of James Holden, brother of the deceased, on Highland road, Rev. M. W. Stackpole officiating. Interment was in the family lot at Spring Grove cemetery.

Mr. Holden was about fifty-five years of age. He is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Ann Hollows and Miss Mary Holden, and two brothers, Walker and James Holden.

ELLEN O'BRIEN

Mrs. Ellen O'Brien, widow of Dennis O'Brien of North Main street, died very suddenly on Tuesday afternoon while at the home of a neighbor. Mrs. O'Brien was apparently in the best of health when she called upon her neighbor for a short visit. While there she was taken ill and before medical aid could be summoned passed away.

Her husband died some time ago. She is survived by a brother, who resides in Boston, and two sisters.

Funeral services were held on Thursday morning from St. Augustine's church. Interment took place in St. Augustine's cemetery.

ATTRACTIONS AT THE THEATRES

Boston Theatres
Castle Square—"The Lion and the Mouse." Grand Opera House—"House with the Green Shutters." Hollis St.—"Too Much Johnson."
Shubert—"As You Like It."
Boston—"Raffles."
Tremont—"The Fortune Hunter."
Majestic—"The Chocolate Soldier."

CASTLE SQUARE
Charles Klein's play, "The Lion
and the Mouse" is being played by the Craig stock company at Castle Square theatre. This drama, the interest of which centers around the multimillionaire, who accustomed as he is to dominating finance and politics is finally himself dominated by a girl, is well enacted by this popular stock company.

HOLLIS STREET
An amusing farce entitled, "Too Much Johnson," is entertaining Hollis street patrons. The ingenuity displayed by William Gillette, who as Mr. Billings, succeeds in escaping from the many complications of the plot, and the dilemmas in which he finds himself, furnishes the interest of the piece. Next week Francis Wilson will appear in "The Bachelor's Baby."

SHUBERT
Seats are on sale for all the remaining Sothra and Marlowe performances at the Shubert. The third and last week begins Monday and the plays are: Monday and Tuesday
nights, "The Taming of the Shrew";
Wednesday and Thursday nights,
"Merchant of Venice"; Friday night,
"Twelfth Night"; Saturday matinee,
"As You Like It," and Saturday night, "Macbeth." For the balance of this week the performances are:
Saturday matinee, "Romeo and Juliet"; Saturday night, "Hamlet."

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

ters" is the attraction at the Grand

LAWRENCE OPERA HOUSE

"Graustark"
The much discussed play, "Graustark," will be presented at the Opera House Saturday matinee and night,
November 26, and local booklovers
and theatre-goers will have an opportunity of seeing and judging for themselves the dramatized version
by Grace Hayward of George Barr McCutcheon's famous story as adapted by George D. Baker. The author's readers are legion, and they rally to the support of the play as a unit.
The opportunity for dramatic effect in "Graustark" is unparalleled in the history of stage productions where successful novels were the source of supplying the plot. James W. Castle, who staged the original production,
was quick to see the possibilities of this startling story and arranged for the theatrical rights, with the result that today his romantic drama is the most talked of play in the realm of theatredom.

Musical Comedy Repertoire

A neighboring newspaper has the following to say regarding a performance of "A Knight for a Day," which is one of the pieces that will be presented by the Katzes and Phelan Amusement company during its engagement next week at the Opera House.
"A Knight for a Day" was given its first production at popular prices
last night to an appreciative audience
and it was a most satisfactory offering. The comedy is exceptionally well handled and the song numbers
are well rendered and tastefully staged.
George Ovey and Louise Horner are easily the best members of the cast,
and one or the other or both are on the stage constantly. George Ovey has a style peculiarly his own that never fails to get the laugh when needed. As Jonathan Joy, the waiter, he is immense."

Every Dog Has His Day

men, in all my career, I have never

Opera House. The story of the piece is that of a young and beautiful orphan heiress, all alone in the heart of New York, who is wooed by a detective, and how their love is forced to surmount all kinds of obstacles before the happy climax is reached.

TREMONT
"The Fortune Hunter" is on the last fortnight of its engagement at the Tremont theatre. From the moment he appears on the stage, John Barrymore holds the sympathy of his audience. In the play he is aided by an excellent company.

BOSTON
Announcement is made by Joseph
M. Gates that his newest production will be seen at the Boston theatre
beginning Monday, November 28, entitled "Katie Did." The book is founded on that most popular of farces, "My Friend from India." The transposing of the piece to music and the lyrics are the work of W. C.
Duncan and Frank Smithson. The new production is in two acts and a strong cast has been gathered together by Mr. Gates for the presentation. It includes May Vokes, favorably known for her excellent work as the slave in "My Friend from India" company, and who has attracted considerable attention in several popular musical comedies.
Fred Nice, who is known as one of the very best dancers on the musical stage; Alfred Kappeler, Joseph Adel-
man, D. W. Merket, Clifford Saum, Bert Baker, Louis Simon, Josie Intropidi, Evelyn Dunmore, Florence
May, Anna Wilkes, and J. J. Hughes are also in the cast.
Frank Smithson has done the staging for "Katie Did" and this in itself assures some brilliant novelties
both in pictures and in dancing.
Some of the most popular of the song "hits" are: "In the Swim," "Out with the Owl," "Come a Little Closer,"
"I Met My Girls," "The Light of My Eyes," "Save up Your Kisses
for a Rainy Day," and "Love, Love."

The next social of the South church will be held on Friday evening, December 2.

Harry Dyer, who is employed in Portland, Maine, enjoyed the holiday at his home in Scotland District.

A regular meeting of the Willing Workers of the South church was held on Monday evening with Miss Hattie Erving.

Phillips Academy closed Wednesday noon for the Thanksgiving recess. Recitations were resumed this morning at ten o'clock.

The local postoffice observed the usual holiday hours yesterday, opening only between the hours of 8 and 9.30 a.m., and 5.30 and 6 p.m.

The Andover association football team and the Lynn team of the Boston district league played an exhibition game on the local grounds yesterday afternoon which resulted in a tie with two goals apiece. After the game the visitors were entertained at a supper in Abbott Village hall.

The concert at the Guild house last Saturday evening was the occasion of a very enjoyable evening. A very attractive and pleasing program was rendered, the numbers being contributed by the following: Miss Susan Brown, vocalist; and a trio consisting of Miss Helen Eaton, cello; Mrs. Owen H. Gates, piano, and Gaylord Gates, violin. Miss Transaglia, the pianist, was unable to be present. In her place Rev. Frederic Palmer contributed a reading.

The annual Thanksgiving service held under the auspices of the Andover Christian Civic League, took place at 4.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the South church. The meeting was well attended, the convenience of the hour as compared with that at which the service was formerly conducted making it possible for many to be present who otherwise could not have been. The Governor's proclamation was read by Rev. M. W. Stackpole, followed by responsive reading led by Rev. F. A. Wilson. Prayer was offered by Dr. Palmer, and the scripture lesson read by Rev. William E. Lombard. Rev. Dean Walker then gave the address of the afternoon, taking as his subject the things for which people should give thanks, enumerating especially the blessings which are denied to others, but which we enjoy.

Andover Does not Get Fund

By a decision of the full bench of the Supreme Court that part of the estate of Benjamin H. Pynchard of Andover, who died sixty years ago, and which was left to his adopted daughter, Ellen, does not go to Andover for an orphan asylum, but is to be distributed among other charities. The decision was on a petition brought by Frances S. Clarke, executrix, against the inhabitants of Andover and others with a view to have the will of Mr. Pynchard construed so as to dispose of certain funds in the hands of the petitioner.

The testator left $10,000 to his adopted daughter, Sarah Elizabeth, and $7000 to his adopted daughter, Ellen, the income if not needed for their schooling and support, to be added to the principal during their minority and at the age of twenty-one they to receive the income of the amounts given to them during the remainder of their lives, and sooner, if married before the age of twenty-one, at the time of said marriage. The will provided further that "in case of the death of either of them before they come of age, or are married, the said sum or sums to be appropriated for the establishment of an orphan asylum for Andover for the benefit of orphans and indigent children."

The daughter, Ellen, died in 1892, never having been married and being much more than twenty-one. Her legacy has been in the hands of trustees and the petitioner in this case is the executrix of Amasa Clarke, who was the last survivor of the trustees.

The question most discussed was whether, to give the remainder effect for the establishment of an asylum in Andover, the death of Ellen must occur before the happening of either of the events referred to, whichever might happen first, namely, her coming of age or her marriage, so that the happening of either before her death would defeat the remainder without the happening of the other before her death, or, whether the remainder would vest on her death unless she had both come of age and had been married before that time.

The court is of the opinion that it was only in case of her death before either event happened that this remainder was to take effect, so that if she came of age or was married before her death the money was not to be appropriated to this charitable use. The amount goes to the residuary estate, and under a general residuary clause the domestic and foreign missionary society of the Protestant Episcopal church in the United States gets two-fifths, the American Sunday School Union, the Seamen's Friend Society and the American Bible Society one-fifth each.

Payment of income was made to the beneficiary during her life. The fund, with its accumulations, which is to be divided among the societies named, amounts to about $20,000.—Boston Transcript.

BOWLING

The Hillside House alleys were the scene of a very close and exciting game of Duck Pins last Friday evening, between teams representing the Knights of Pythias and the Smith and Dove Overseers club. The latter won two strings and the pinfall by 19 pins. Bradford of the Overseers was high roller of the game, with a single string of 116 and a total of 305. Reed, also of this side, rolled up a single 103 and a total of 269. Hilton was high for the Knights, having the highest single string of the game, 122, and a total of 301.

BARGAINS IN USED PIANOS

Many buyers are surprised to find how thoroughly satisfactory in looks and sound are the used pianos that we offer for sale. Every piano that comes to us in exchange goes to our factory in Cambridge and is thoroughly overhauled. When needed, new hammers, new strings and even new actions are put in. As makers, we can do this intelligently and economically. Perhaps a piano made by one of the celebrated makers, renewed by us, will please you. If so you may save $100 or $200. It's worth considering. We will mail you a list of the used pianos we offer if inconvenient to call.
